Day 2: Wed, January 6

Arrival in San Jose

After arriving from San José on a charter flight to Palmar Sur, we'll visit Finca 6, an archaeological site and museum. This UNESCO World Heritage Site preserves the mysterious pre-Columbian stone spheres, perfectly carved by the ancient Diquís culture between 500 and 1500 CE. Our walk explores forest trails and open areas where several spheres remain in their original alignment, offering insight into their ceremonial and social roles. The interpretation center features excellent exhibits on its history and craftsmanship. This visit offers a fascinating glimpse into Costa Rica's pre-Hispanic heritage and the artistry of its early inhabitants. Afternoon arrival at Crystal Ballena.

Day 3: Thurs, January 7

Whale Watching

Morning outing in search of humpback whales at Ballena National Park, one of the world's most vital refuges for these endangered giants. Humpbacks from both hemispheres migrate to these warm waters to mate, give birth, and raise their young. Known as the "acrobats of the sea," they swim slowly near the surface, offering a rare chance to witness their beauty. The park's pristine waters also host bottlenose and spotted dolphins, along with diverse seabirds.

Afternoon hike through the hotel's private forest preserve, featuring over 30 acres of lush jungle trails and tropical gardens. Dinner at the hotel's restaurant, enjoying the sea breeze and a stunning sunset.

After breakfast, we will take a 30-minute drive to the Sierpe River, where we will board a boat to explore the river's diverse ecosystems. Along the way, we'll have excellent chances to see howler monkeys, white-faced capuchin monkeys, squirrel monkeys, sloths, toucans, and many other species of tropical wildlife.

After our morning exploration, we'll enjoy lunch at a local restaurant, then return to the hotel in the afternoon to relax and watch the sunset.

Day 4: Fri, January 8

Sierpe River

Day 5: Sat, January 9

Talamanca Mountains

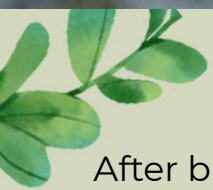

After breakfast, we will depart on a 3.5-hour drive up into the Talamanca Mountains, the tallest mountain range in Costa Rica.

Our destination, Savegre Lodge, is a family-owned property with its own protected cloud forest reserve, located along the banks of the Savegre River. This marvelous location, surrounded by lush cloud forests and fruit orchards, offers scenic trails that lead to cascading waterfalls.

Here, it's often possible to see the Resplendent Quetzal, the iconic bird revered by the ancient Mayan culture.

After breakfast, we will board the hotel's Land Rovers and head to an ancient oak forest at the top of the mountain range. From there, we'll take a leisurely hike back down to the lodge.

Along the way, we'll encounter high-altitude bird species, giant ferns, and other flora and fauna typical of this region, providing excellent opportunities for nature observation and photography.

Afternoon: The afternoon will be at leisure, with the option to explore the nearby town or stay at the lodge and enjoy its amenities, including a spa, bar, and hot tubs.

Day 6: Sun, January 10

Savegre Lodge

Day 7: Mon, January 11

Quelitales Hotel

Morning departure to Quelitales Hotel. On our way, we'll stop at Café Cristina for a coffee plantation tour. You'll have the opportunity to learn about the production of Costa Rica's famous gourmet coffee—from plant to market—while enjoying a freshly brewed cup and hearing insights from local coffee experts.

Afternoon arrival at Quelitales Hotel, where José, our host, will welcome us to this cozy mountain retreat. José is not only the hotel owner but also a renowned chef, who will prepare delicious dinners for us during our stay at Quelitales.

Day 8: Tues, January 12

Savegre Lodge

This morning, we'll enjoy a bird-watching outing at the Río Macho Forest Reserve, a lush protected area known for its remarkable biodiversity and pristine montane forest. The trails here provide excellent opportunities to spot species such as emerald toucanets, quetzals, trogons, and a variety of colorful tanagers and hummingbirds. After our morning exploration, we'll visit the charming town of Orosi, nestled in a beautiful valley surrounded by mountains and coffee plantations. Here, we'll stop at the historic Orosi Church, the oldest church in continuous use in Costa Rica, where we can appreciate its colonial architecture and tranquil atmosphere before returning to our lodge.

After breakfast, we will drive approximately 2.5 hours to the San José International Airport.

Note: Please book your departure flights after noon on Wednesday, January 13.

All adventures must come to an end. After nine unforgettable days exploring the magic of this tropical gem, we head home carrying lifelong memories of Costa Rica's beauty, wildlife, and warmth.

¡Pura Vida, Costa Rica!

Meet your expedition leaders

Carlos Chacon

Carlos' passion for nature grew out of his childhood experiences in the rainforests of Costa Rica. While earning his B.S. in Tropical Biology at the University of Costa Rica he gained first hand knowledge about local wildlife species by working as a zookeeper at the Costa Rica National Zoo . After graduation Carlos worked as a naturalist for Lindblad Expeditions, National Geographic, Nature Conservancy, Mountain Sobek Travel, and several other companies traveling throughout Costa Rica as well as working on cruises to the Galapagos, Ecuador, Panama and Alaska. In 2005 Carlos started his own ecotour company working with longtime friend Ricardo Gomez (driver and birder extraordinaire) and Dr. Chris Marsh (landscape ecologist and naturalist). Carlos' company specializes in small group trips on which participants experience both the rich biodiversity and the local culture of Costa Rica. Over two decades ago Carlos met his wife Carol Weir while she was working in Costa Rica. They now reside in Bluffton, South Carolina and have two adult sons.

Chris Marsh

Chris's interest in birds goes back to his very early days. He grew up in Raleigh, NC and joined the Raleigh Bird Club when he was 14. Chris completed his Ph.D. in zoology from Oregon State University in 1982 and became an assistant professor of biology at Brevard College that same year. From 1984 to 1998 he served as a professor at Coastal Carolina University, where he taught biology, animal behavior, ornithology and marine ecology. He conducted shorebird surveys with the South Carolina Dept. of Natural Resources and worked as an environmental consultant from 1986-1994. In 1998 he left academia to become the first full-time Director of the Spring Island Trust and also became the Director of the LowCountry Institute when it was founded that same year. Now retired, Chris continues to contribute to conservation in the Lowcountry as director emeritus.

Chris now resides in Winston-Salem, NC but continues to stay involved with conservation initiatives in the Lowcountry. Dr. Marsh has been assisting Carlos with his Costa Rica trips since 2005.
